Payment and Period of Performance Terms

Payment Terms: Net 30 from date of Invoice. Quoted amounts are in USD. Payments must be in USD. Different or additional terms may be listed in Quote Notes above.

Period of Performance Terms:

Renewal: The period of performance for a renewal contract will begin the day following the expiration of the contract being renewed and will terminate after the duration listed on the quote unless specified otherwise in the quote notes. These guidelines are effective regardless of the date the renewal order is received.

New or Expansion license orders: Unless specified otherwise in the quote or agreed otherwise in writing by the parties, the subscription or maintenance portion of an order for new licenses will begin with the earliest of: delivery of the production license(s), start of production work on the cluster using a temporary license, date of notice of acceptance using a temporary license, or 60 days after our receipt of the order.

Training: Unless specified otherwise in the quote or agreed otherwise in writing by the parties, training services must be scheduled within two months of the date of the order and delivered within six months of the order, or become forfeit without reimbursement for unused hours.

Professional Services: Unless agreed otherwise in the quote or in a separate signed Professional Services Agreement or Statement of Work, delivery of professional services must begin or be scheduled for delivery within sixty (60) days of our receipt of the purchase order or the services shall automatically terminate and unused time or services will become forfeit without reimbursement for unused hours.

If services have begun or been scheduled within sixty (60) days referenced above, they will be available until either all the services and deliverables are completed by Adaptive Computing or for one hundred eighty (180) days from our receipt of the purchase order. Unless agreed otherwise by the parties, any services not completed within one hundred eighty (180) days from our receipt of the purchase order, shall automatically terminate and any unused time or services shall become forfeit without reimbursement for unused hours.

If you have any questions regarding this quote or terms, please contact your sales account representative.

We thank you for your business.
